Dist. 210 in Five High School Suburban Conference

The Board of Education of Bremen Community High School District 228 held its regular meeting Tuesday, November 11, at which Franklin Klein, attorney, Fred Goebel, and T. R. Birkhead, school superintendent, were likewise present. Mr. Birkhead presented to the board a report on discussions had with representatives of Bremen, Orland-Palos, Oak Lawn, Rich and Reavis high school districts relative to the formation of a new conference among these districts, all of which are relatively new high school districts and are being formed under kindred circumstances resulting from the fact that high schools attended by students in these areas are unable to accommodate them in the future. The villages of Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox being a part of this plan. A. H. Chapman, superintendent of the school at Mokena, together with the superintendent of Reavis and Mr. Birkhead, attended a meeting held at Oak Lawn Monday night where it was decided among those superintendents present that they would move for the approval of the Southwest Suburban Conference subject to the approval of the respective boards of education.

N. LENOX WARNS NOT TO START GRASS FIRES

Robert McCleary, clerk of the New Lenox village board, wishes to notify the people of this area that the board, in conjunction with the fire department, warns against starting grass fires. Last week the New Lenox fire department answered 16 grass fire calls, every one of which meant so much lost time for the volunteer firemen, and say nothing of the menace to life and property when grass fires get beyond control.

It is urged that grass fires should not be started at all until rain ends the present drought which is the worst fall drought in the history of this territory. Practically no rain fell during the whole month of October, and up to this time in November there has been no rainfall in this area. Every field is a tinderbox, ready to spring into a blaze at the first spark.

If leaf fires are started on one's property on a windless day they present no danger, but on a windy day, even if started in one's back yard, a clump of burning leaves might be picked up by the wind and tossed into a grassy area, starting a fire, or lifted to a leaf-cluttered gutter, causing a roof fire, which might mean the loss of a house.

So, until we get a soaking rain, people are urged to put off starting grass fires completely, and to reserve starting leaf fires to absolutely windless days when there is no danger of the fire spreading.

WHY MOKENA SHOULD VOTE 'NO' ON BOTH BOND ISSUES SATURDAY

An Editorial

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Every voter in Mokena should be interested in the election to be held Saturday. I have been attending the village board meetings regularly to report the board actions and now as I look over the plans for the water program I am truly impressed by the blocks and blocks of new water mains the board plans to install. As I see it, we will start paying interest on money to be used for water mains which may not be needed for several years. Every home to be served by the new mains now has its own well or is using village water.

May I respectfully suggest that we voters vote "NO" on these propositions, and further suggest that we make the need for improvements in the water system with an eye to getting the greatest possible value for our money. As the water comes from the pump and from the well it is declared pure by the state health board.

This $125,000 plan includes chlorinating our water. Have you ever tried to drink Chicago water? There is a reason "for Chicago to try to clean" their water. It is open water and has every possible organic contamination. Our water comes from a deep well drilled in rock. It reminds one of a woman going to a well with a dirty pail, pumping clean water into it, and then trying to remove the dirt from the water. Why not clean up the pail? We can, by eliminating cross connections and rehabilitating the present mains, but the engineers said that would cost only $10,000, a far cry from $125,000.

There are several places in the village where a number of homes are drawing water from one small line. If our water rates were slightly raised with the water fund surplus now on hand (about $5,000) we could gradually replace these smaller lines with mains and this would be classed as repair work, not a new system, by the state health board. That wouldn't cost $125,000.

A draw-down test made recently on our village well showed a capacity more than has ever been estimated by previous guesses. The new pump to be installed November 18 will have a tractor pull in case of power failure which is better insurance than any we have had heretofore. If residents would feel safer to have an auxiliary well and pump there is a good chance that we can hook the old pump to an existing well and use it as an auxiliary. Where more fire hydrants are needed the board could consult with the fire department, going over the equipment and being advised as to what is actually needed.

Was I surprised when I totaled up the interest we would be paying? Who wants to pay $76,000 interest to borrow $125,000? And remember that we may have 1000 water users in Mokena but we have about 300 paying the water bills. EXTREME need a person may pay high interest on the money he borrows but what happens if he would run thousands of feet while he pays interest on the money they cost him?

The last bond issue made by a board was for $9000. Prices have more than doubled but can't we think in terms of thousands instead of hundreds of thousands? Don't let our town be saddled with a debt for 30 years. Let's plan where we need to spend it instead of looking around for a place to spend it.

Where is the $175,000 program which included a water softener and a sewer system that wouldn't drain basements? When the village board planned the mass meeting, Trustee Russell Anderson told them that if the vote at this mass meeting showed that the voters were against the program, they would drop it entirely. The vote at that mass meeting was 4 to 1 to 2 to 1 against it. Before we realized it he brought the program up before the board again.

If you vote for this program the board has unlimited power to raise your water rates so as to meet the bond and interest payments. Why should we vote to spend a lot of money now? Can't we clean up our present system and give people mains where they are needed right now?

FEATHER PARTY

The New Lenox Sportsmen's Club is sponsoring a Feather Party scheduled to take place in the Lion's Den, on South Cedar road, Sunday, November 23rd. There will be awards made of turkeys, ducks and chickens. Games will be played. The party will start at one o'clock.

In an article appearing in last Sunday's Chicago Tribune dealing with the referendum to be held next Saturday on the water system improvements in new subdivisions for Mokena the Tribune stated:

"Opposition has risen among some older residents who feel extension of the system is unnecessary."

All through the years we have respected the Tribune's opinions, but we disagree with this statement, and believe they have been misinformed, or shall we say, not fully informed in this matter. Opposition to this water extension program, which involves two bond issues totaling $125,000, on which the voters will express their opinion in Saturday's election, is by no means confined to "older residents", as the Tribune puts it. Opposition is quite general, and includes many people who have recently moved to Mokena, as well as many who have been residents here for a number of years, and who have drilled their own wells, and who for this and other reasons are opposed to the water extension program.

The main reason why so many are opposed to the water improvement program is because they do not like the idea of the $125,000 debt plus high interest charges which would amount to $76,000 over a period of 30 years being tacked on to the home they are paying for. The high water taxes over this long period, which the bond issue will necessarily entail, are something many did not bargain for when they considered moving to Mokena. $25 or $30 a year, they believe, is a lot to pay for water, and this amount would hardly be a drop in the bucket where large homes and expansive lawns are to be maintained. Even at the present water rate many can not afford to keep their lawns green during the summer, and must depend on the whims of Mother Nature to do the job for them.

Some may think that if they do not use city water they will not be assessed, but make no mistake about this. Everyone, whether they draw water from a well or from a village main—will come under the proposed $65,000 bond issue which will be on one of the ballots Saturday. Remember, there are two bond issues to vote on. The $60,000 bond issue extending over a period of 30 years will be paid by water users only. The $65,000 bond issue extending over a period of 20 years will be for everybody, whether they use city water or not.

In case of a depression, and if citizens are not able to pay these heavy taxes, the bond holders have the right to come in and take over the water system. That would not be the first time this thing has happened. In Braidwood, south of Joliet, this very thing happened some years ago and the bond holders stepped in and took over the water system. Braidwood now has this overcome after years of hard struggle.

This proposed issue is buying on a high market and probably paying on a low market.

Nobody in Mokena is against improvements, generally speaking, but the proposed improvements to our water system are extremely out of line. The proposed $65,000 bond issue over a period of 20 years will cost with principal and interest a total of $90,000 and the $60,000 bond issue over a period of 30 years will cost $111,000, making a total indebtedness of $201,000. This tremendous obligation could be avoided if the location could be avoided if the local water rates were increased, say, to double, or slightly more than the present rate, and each year extension and improvements could be made according to the available fund so derived from the increased water rates, thus doing away with all interest charges. If one stops to consider how much improvement could be done with $76,000 he will be amazed.

Furthermore, there is no place in Mokena which cannot be reached with a fire hose under present conditions.

Many people wonder why this water main extension takes in so much vacant property. Might it be for some realtors benefit realtors who plan to benefit at the expense of present taxpayers, a large portion of whom have paid for their own water supply by private wells or tapping city water?

Do not forget to vote Saturday. Vote NO on both bond issues. The polls are in the village hall and will be open from 6:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. You do not need to be registered to vote in the village election, but a voter must have lived in the village for at least 30 days, in the county for at least 90 days, and in the state for at least one year.

Many Heavyweights To Contend in 22nd CYO Boxing Classic

An unusually large number of heavyweights will be seen in the 22nd annual CYO boxing classic at the Chicago stadium, December 1, for lining up to take part in the preliminaries for sectional laurels are more lads tipping the beam at 200 or better than ever before in the history of the classic.

Each section of the city has its outstanding contender in the heavy class for among the big boys from the South side in the novice division there is John J. McFarland, a nephew of the late Macky McFarland of ring fame. The youngster is just 17, is 6 feet tall and weighs an even 200. He has the know-how, according to Pat Cleary, CYO boxing director, plus a lot of stamina gained as tackle for South Shore high's grid squad. From the North Side area comes Harry Turner, 18, who is 6 feet 2 and weighs 220. Another smart appearing heavy is Dominick DeRosa from the West side, who is 18, weighs 185 and hopes to bring glory to his parish, Holy Guardian Angels.

In all, according to Cleary, there will be approximately 400 boxers in the open and novice division, going through their physical exams and, because the trainees are under constant medical supervision, it is expected that not many will fail to pass muster in the thorough check-up now being given at the central CYO gym.

Transmission Line Damage Spotted by Radar Fault Locator

Radar equipment is now being used by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois to locate points of damage in high voltage transmission lines.

Developed by engineers of Public Service and the Common wealth Edison companies, the new equipment, known as a radar fault locator, can help pinpoint a damaged spot in an overhead transmission line or an underground cable in a matter of minutes.

The two utilities, which furnish electricity in Chicago and more than 500 other communities in the northern part of the state, now have seven sets of the radar fault locators. A set weighs less than 100 pounds and can be transported in a light truck or even a passenger car.

The radar equipment operates like that used by the army and navy for detecting airplanes or other objects, except that its impulses travel over transmission wires instead of over air waves.

When a fault develops in a transmission line and the location of the trouble is not known the fault locator is attached to one of the terminals of the line in a sub-station or generating station and the impulse travels to the point of damage then returns to the point of sending. The intricate device translates the time taken for the impulse to go out and return into distance and enables the operator to measure the approximate location of the fault. Workmen are then dispatched to repair the damage.

Heretofore it has been necessary to locate a fault in an overhead line by patrolling the line and finding the spot by visual observation. Locating damage in an underground line has been more difficult. Electro-mechanical devices have been used but they were time-consuming. In cases of complete breaks in the cable, they were of no value. In such cases it has been necessary up to this time to cut the middle of the cable at a manhole and test it in both directions and continue these cuts until the fault is located. Under this time-consuming and costly method, as many as seven cuts might be required to isolate the damaged section.

The two utilities have the radar equipment stationed at locations where it is handy to most of the transmission lines. Two are located in Chicago, and the others at Joliet, Maywood, Dixon, Kewanee and Pekin. Those at Pekin and Kewanee are chiefly for use on the intricate network of 138,000-volt overhead lines supplying the area southwest of Chicago and, if needed, could be used also on the 147-mile long, 230,000 volt line connecting Powerton generating station at Pekin with Crawford station in Chicago.

The Mokena fire department was called out four times over the past weekend. The most serious fire occurred at 1:30 pm. Saturday, in the Janes subdivision in Alpine, where a frame house which was under construction burned to the foundation. The siding was already up on this house, which is owned by some Joliet people.

The fire department also responded to calls to put out three grass fires, one of which was at Mrs. Cleveland's woods, on Wolf road, south of Mokena, which damaged a number of trees. The other two were at Fred Sheel's and Harold Jones. Both of these fires were extinguished before any damage was done.

Immortal Twelve

Lesson for November 16, 1952

If the twelve Apostles wanted to join your church, would you let them in? Peter Marshall thought not. Books of sermons are often full of reading, but Dr. Marshall's book called Mr. Jones, Meet the Master is as fascinating a book as you are likely to find anywhere. One of his famous sermons goes over an imagined application of the twelve Apostles for membership in a typical American church. One by one each man is rejected—all but Judas! As a man of money the church wants his services.

Unpromising Material

Not to steal Peter Marshall's sermon, nor to spoil your appetite for it in case you do read it, but just to explore the possibilities, let's imagine yourself passing on the application of these men for church membership. There is Simon Peter... Well! He is a fisherman and a sailor, and you know what sailor's language is, sometimes. A man noted for talking before he thinks. Not among our best people (they would say in Capernaum); lives down by the docks somewhere, smells of fish. No education, very limited background. Better wait. Maybe he could find a little chapel down nearer his work he'd be happier there. And then there's James and his brother John. Hot-tempered and ambitious, in fact so conceited they're hard to live with. They would certainly want to be at the top—if thrones are passed out they will want one apiece in the front row. If they are crossed they are likely to call down fire from heaven—not that they'll get it, but that's the kind of young men they are. No, they will be too hot to handle. Let them go join some sect that will give their emotions a chance. We'll be too slow and too cold for them.

Nobodies

Then there is Thomas, for instance. Just the opposite of Peter. A cold, gloomy man. Takes the dark view of everything. What you want in the church is men of faith, and this is a man who is sure to be called the Doubter. Skepticism is contagious, we have enough doubters now without electing another one. Let's leave him out. Then there is Philip, a stupid man if ever you saw one. You can say a thing to him over and over and he still won't get it. And Bartholomew and Thaddaeus or Lebbaeus or whatever his name is, and another James and another Simon—their names are common and so are they. Just who are they, the whole lot of them? Nobodies, that's all you can say. Can you name one that has made a name for himself outside his native village—or in it, for that matter? What have they got to contribute? Haven't we got enough dead wood in the church as it is without adding some more people who will be nothing but names? Seems to me the pastor must have been scraping the bottom of the barrel—these men certainly didn't come from the top.

Jesus Made Difference

Even worse than all that could have been said of some of the Twelve. There was one very doubtful character among them, the man Matthew the Publican. Publicans were tax-collectors for the Roman government. No one respected them; Jesus himself used the name Publican as meaning the lowest class of men. Who knew how sincere Matthew was when he joined the Twelve? There was also Judas, immortal for another reason; who was and who remained a devil. Jesus called two of these men devils at different times; Judas stayed one, but Peter changed. That lets us in to the secret of why Jesus chose these particular men. It was not for what they were at the time, not for anything they had accomplished, but for what he could do with them, that Jesus chose these men. He selected them for a particular reason: that they should go out and tell other men about him. To be ready to do this, they were to spend some time in close contact with him. When these men went out to speak for Jesus and the Kingdom of God they knew what they were talking about... and they were different men. All but Judas, who missed his life's great chance. For these other men had let Christ have his way with them. That is what the Church is and ought to be: the community of men and women who are being transformed, by Christ, for service in his name.

Tinley Girl Active In Iowa College

Miss Ann Legerski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Legerski, 17637 Otto Ave., Tinley Park, is becoming one of the leaders of campus activity at Briar Cliff college, Sioux City, Iowa, where she is a freshman. Her father is a factory worker in Tinley Park.

Ann has been admitted to the college chorus, an honor at Briar Cliff. Ann's sister Mary is a sophomore at Briar Cliff and is also interested in music. Mary has given vocal selections at college recitals.

Briar Cliff college is located in Sioux City, Iowa, and is accredited for the granting of degrees by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools, Iowa State university and the Iowa State department of public instruction for Certification of Teachers.

Briar Cliff, which is preparing for its twenty-fifth anniversary homecoming, costs less to attend than 93 per cent of all comparable women's colleges in the United States, in spite of the high standards and excellent quarters and food.

Among the plans for the Silver Jubilee homecoming, is an enlarged institution to care for the 400 degree-candidate students expected by 1955.

Suggestions for Sending In News Items, Announcements, Pictures For This Paper

The steady increase of population in the territory served by The News-Bulletin, The Tinley Park Times, and The Orland Park Herald necessitates some change in sending in news in regard to both the manner in which it is sent and the timing. Frequently, items come stringing along just about the time we are going to press, with the request that they be published in the current issue. This is well high impossible, and to clarify the situation the following suggestions are offered:

There is little reason why much of the news that is sent in with the expectation of its appearing in the current issue cannot be sent in to reach this office Thursday or Friday, so that it may be set over the weekend. These items will go in the following week's issue.

News of a routine nature should ordinarily appear on the inside pages, rather than on the first page, and no one should be disappointed over this, because the inside pages are read thoroughly, too. Coming under this classification is the ordinary run of school news. Heretofore, we have had the time to set such news for this front page, and also have had the room on first page, but with the steady growth of the surrounding communities the pressure has increased, making the suggested changes a necessity. For example, Tinley Park now has two public schools instead of one, naturally doubling the amount of school news from this area.

It is quite obvious that we are unable to publish all the school news on the front page during each current week, and most of it must be relegated to the inside pages in the future. There will be exceptions, of course, to this general rule. Last minute announcements which carry a date will, find a place in the current issue, possibly on the front page, if their importance warrants this position. However, we must insist that other items of school interest be sent in to reach us Thursday or Friday morning so they can be set for the inside pages of the following week's issue.

In case, for example, of PTA news, which originates at meetings held on Tuesday or Wednesday, this should be sent in to reach this office Thursday or Friday, also, unless there is an important announcement date involved. In this case we would try to find a front page spot for it. It must be remembered that we have just one front page, and it is not big enough to carry all the news items that pour in every week, however newsworthy they may be.

Articles submitted should contain news. The sole purpose of a newspaper is to dispense news, not promotion. The newspaper cannot be expected to run the same story over, week after week, unless there is an additional news slant in subsequent weeks.

Articles should be written in the third person, not in the first or second. Wrong: "We will do so and so." Right: "You must do so and so." Right: "They must do so and so."

Married women should be designated by "Mrs." and their husband's first name or initials. "Mr." is not used before a man's name except when accompanied by "Mrs." or for differentiation in articles where a few adults are listed with a group of children, such as scouts and their leaders.

In writing a news story, state the most important news idea first. Who, what, where, when and why should be stated in the first few sentences. In other words, "spill the beans" at the outset in a newspaper story. This is directly opposite to magazine procedure. In a magazine story, or in a newspaper fiction story for that matter, the plot is concealed until the very end, when it bursts forth in what is known as the "climax." In a newspaper story get to the ch-max right off the bat and fill in with minor details farther on. This is for the reason that if the news story has to be cut, that is, if a sentence or even several paragraphs have to be eliminated for space reasons, this cutting can be done at the end without much injury to the main story which is at the top. Use frequent paragraphs to allow for frequent cutting. It is better to get half the article in than have it all left out because it is too long and cannot be cut anywhere. Every effort will be made at this office to get your story, in all its essential details, into the paper, however.

The deadline for pictures is Friday morning, but it would be better for our purposes to have them on hand sometime Thursday. In order to have cuts made we must mail them to Chicago, and a couple of days are required to make the engravings. Except in the case of small snapshots, it is advisable to put a piece or two of cardboard with the picture to prevent cracking or bending in transit, in case the pictures are mailed. Only black and white photos can be reproduced, no color. Also black and white sketches.

It is preferred that all news items be typewritten, preferably double-spaced, and on one side of the paper only. Double spacing provides room for making corrections, if any are needed. It is much easier to read, too. The requirement of writing on one side of the paper is insisted on because it is customary for printers to look on one side of the paper only, and any item on the reverse side is likely to be overlooked. This rule is in effect in all newspaper and magazine offices throughout the country. We do not, however, insist upon news items being typewritten. Many do not own a typewriter, and others are not familiar with its use. If, however, handwriting is resorted to, it should be as legible as possible. Unusual names should be printed to insure correct interpretation by the editor.

Finally, please understand that we want your news, as well as our readers do, all of it. We are always glad to get it and will do our best to find space for it, if not in the current issue then in the next. Do not withhold news because you do not think it is important, or because you think you cannot write it. In that case, just send in the notes on it and we will be glad to write it, or call and tell us.

These suggestions are given, not in a spirit of criticism, but to help us get out a better paper.

Tinley School News

If you were to step into room 200 someday you may chance to see and hear many things that did not take place in an arithmetic class when you, as parents were in school.

Today, the chief aims of arithmetic are also different than they were years ago. A decade or so ago the study of arithmetic was primarily to produce much thought in the solving of all kinds of difficult problems, and to prepare one for the job as accountant, clerk, etc.

We are attempting to teach the child the whys of arithmetic and the aims are toward understanding. The seventh grade classes are studying the decimal system, which is our present number system. They learned how ancient engineers and clerks computed with an abacus, thereby avoiding the difficulties inherent in their clumsy notational system. Georgette Zirbes constructed an abacus at home using a frame of cardboard and colored beads for counters.

The sixth grades are making fractions trainers which they will use in comparing two fractions. It will also help them to understand that two different fractions may have the same value. They are also making note books showing uses of fractions in everyday living.

The use of filmstrips is also apparent in our classes. The seventh grade saw and discussed the filmstrip "The Meaning of Fractions" was shown to the sixth grades to correlate with their unit on fractions. One can see that by using different methods and different approaches to the same subject the child who finds it hard to understand one way may be motivated by some other method. Don't worry if your child doesn't bring home a lot of home work. Chances are he is learning and understanding arithmetic better than you think.

COUNTY BOARD APPOINTS NEW CONSTABLE

(CNS) The county board has passed three measures affecting the south suburbs.

The board appointed Harry Holder, 29, of 4835 W. 149th St., Oak Forest, constable of Bremen Twp. to fill the vacancy left by resignation of James Naughton, who was elected in April, 1949.

Holder, who was approved by the township supervisor and the town board, was sponsored for the job by Democratic Township committeeman Harry Clarke of Midlothian.

The board also approved a request from the board of education of District 228, Bremen twp. for permission to connect with the Oak Forest sewerage line which extends down Crawford ave. in front of the school at 153rd St. The permission was granted subject to the board acquiring permission from the state highway department.

Midlothian supplies water to the school, the board said in a letter to the county commissioners, but the Midlothian sewerage system is more than a half mile from the $1,175,000 school now under construction and would not be adequate for the school or the surrounding homes. The letter pointed out that the school district has used up all its bond issuing power to build the school and must seek a low cost sewerage system.

Also approved by the board today was a bond issue requisition by the Oak Forest institution, requesting the county architect to make a complete survey and prepare plans of existing tile drainage and sewers between and around all buildings at the institution. The institution does not have a comprehensive plan, and when new work is done on sewer lines tie-ins with existing lines are more difficult and time-consuming.
